SICK BOY FALLS AND BREAKS LEG

Then Crawls Half a Block to Prevent Freezing to Death. Calls for Help not Heard. Other Accidents in the County.

His cries for help being unheard, and fearing that he would freeze to death, the young son of A. A. Gruver, the East Berlin horseman, crawled half a square through the snow and on ice-covered pavements to his home shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday evening with his left leg broken at the ankle. Dr. Elgin was summoned and reduced the fracture, which is a bad break of several bones in the leg at the ankle. The young man, who had been ill for five weeks from typhoid fever, had been out only a couple of times in the past week. Wednesday evening he fell, breaking his leg.

Horse Ran Away.
One evening recently while Luther Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, residing in Hamilton township, was returning from Abbottstown where he attended the lecture in the Reformed church, his sleigh was overturned in a snow bank by the side of the road, close to Abbottstown and Mr. Myers was thrown out. The shafts became detached from the sleigh when the accident occurred, the sleigh remained in the snow bank, and the horse, with the shafts hanging to the harness, ran home where he was found standing at the stable door, when Mr. Myers returned. Fortunately the young man was not injured, but the horse was somewhat cut by the shafts striking him.

Peculiar Accident.
Dr. Stambaugh, of Thomasville, met with a peculiar accident a few days ago. The doctor was driving along the York pike, when he in some manner got one of his thumbs under the dash of the sleigh. In trying to extricate it he had the bones of the thumb broken.

WAR VETERANS TAKEN BY DEATH

Hero of Little Round Top is Dead. Two Veterans who Met here Die within a Few Hours of Each Other. Other Deaths.

HERO OF ROUND TOP
Major General Joshua L. Chamberlain, ex-Governor of Maine and distinguished Civil War veteran, died Tuesday at his home in Portland, Maine.
He was popularly called the "Hero of Little Round Top" owing to the gallant way in which he handled his troops at that fighting centre, Gettysburg. He enlisted in 1862 with the 20th Maine as lieutenant colonel. He was twice promoted for gallantry in battle.
After the battle of Gettysburg he was made brigadier general, and at the close of the war brevetted to major general.

MET HERE, NOW DEAD
In the morgue at the Kearny, N. J., soldiers' home, under the same flag, this week lay the bodies of two old men, both veterans of the Civil War and friends since they met at Gettysburg in 1863. They died Monday within a few hours, grief over the death of the one contributing to the death of the other, according to the mourners for both at the home.

The two men were John DeForrest, 70 years old, and Michael Clark, 78. DeForrest, joined a hospital corps when the war began and served for four years as a nurse. Clark was in the infantry. He was wounded at Gettysburg and DeForrest nursed him to recovery. Friendship grew out of the intimacy of the nurse and patient that lasted through the lives of both.

MRS. EDWARD KING
Mrs. Mandella King, widow of the late Edward King, died from infirmities at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice Palmer, in Hanover, Tuesday evening, February 24, at 7:30 o'clock. She was aged 77 years, 11 months and 8 days.

She was daughter of the late Jesse Heck and wife, of near Littlestown. After the death of her husband, 11 years ago, she went to Hanover.

She leaves the following daughters: Mrs. Alice Palmer, Hanover; Mrs. John Noel, White Hall, and Mrs. Reuben Noel, of McSherrystown. There are 23 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Funeral Friday, February 27, services at the house at 10 a. m., Rev. S. P. Mauger officiating. Interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

The Rudisills sang Wednesday evening with splendid effect to the delight of those present. The Rev. A. A. Crabb arrived at the parsonage on the 5:26 p. m. train occupying the pulpit in the evening service, when a large audience listened to the discourse with rapt attention.

PLANNING FOR COMMENCEMENT

State Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of Minnesota to Deliver Address at College in June.

The chief speaker at Gettysburg College commencement, June 10th, will be C. G. Schultz, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Minnesota. He was educated in Gustavus Adolphus College and Augustana College.
Under his administration the public school system of Minnesota has become a model which a large number of other States are trying to copy. Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of Pennsylvania will also be present and will introduce Superintendent Shultz in a short speech.

Something new at the next Commencement will be a baseball game with Bloomsburg on Tuesday afternoon, June 9. The Junior oratorical contest and the Senior class day exercises will follow each other on the forenoon of the same day. It is felt that the new arrangement will prove much more attractive to our alumni than the old.

The college basketball team left this morning on a three days' trip which will include games at Bucknell, Bloomsburg and Wilkes-Barre.

Commenting on the inadequate fire protection for the college buildings this week's Gettysburgian says in an editorial:

"A fire in the midst of our college community seems to have set some of us to thinking of what might happen in case of fire here on the campus. The fire apparatus of the borough is very limited and if a fire gains much headway the fire fighting system is not of very great value. There is no water plug on the campus and none very near to it and, as was found out at the fire of last Sunday morning, the hose supply of the town is only meagre. The Gettysburg firemen certainly do deserve credit for the way in which they handled this fire for they were greatly handicapped by the cold weather and by the lack of water pressure. They did all in their power to fight the flames and it is due to their hard work that the adjoining properties were saved. But in case of fire on the campus it would be very hard to get water pressure to fight the flames and, even with these competent firemen, nothing could be done in case of fire in Glatfelter Hall for instance. There would be no means of stationing an engine near to the building and as the hose supply is so limited there would be no way of getting water to the scene of the fire."

BECKER TO RUN DOWN SLAYERS

Says Men Who Killed Rosenthal Are Still at Large.

READY TO REJOIN POLICE

District Attorney Whitman Refuses to Discuss Case, But Jack Rose Is Ready to Testify.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 26.—As soon as Charles Becker gets out of prison he will devote all his energies, he says, to running down the men who are responsible for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Th former New York police lieutenant, to whom a new trial was granted for the Rosenthal murder, declared that he could furnish information that would bring the real culprits to justice.

"After I have done that," declared Becker, "I shall be willing to go back to the police department, if they want me. If they do not I will enter some other line of work."

"The four gunmen are terribly downhearted because they, too, were not granted a new trial. They thought their case was tied up with mine. When I was informed that I had been granted a new trial, they immediately concluded that they had been, too. They were joyous. It was hard when they were told the truth."

"The four men who got life insurance policies from the district attorney for swearing my life away for Herman Rosenthal. I think that Harry Vallon is the man who fired the fatal shot. That's the reason he got drunk before the killing. He wanted to get his nerve up for the deed. He needed courage to pull the trigger of his revolver."

Becker was in high spirits when the newspaper men met him in the warden's office. He burst into a torrent of reminiscences, promises, threats and self-congratulations.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, who will determine whether or not Becker shall be tried again, has thus far refused to say what further action he will take in the case. It is known, however, that Mr. Whitman believes that a second trial would be futile in the face of the court of appeals' decision. That decision in effect stamps "Sam" Scheppe, one of the principal witnesses for the state, as an accomplice in the murder plot that "Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon confessed, implicating Becker.

The decision, it is pointed out, also leaves the district attorney in an embarrassing position with reference to Rose, Webber and Vallon, who might, under certain circumstances of a new trial be held and tried for the murder of Rosenthal.

"Jack" Rose, the chief witness for the state against Becker, said that he was ready to testify again in the case if wanted. He showed feeling when mention was made of the suggestion that Becker was made a victim in order that he and others who confessed their part in the plot might be saved.

"If it can be proved," he said, "that it was a frame-up, I want to take the cell made vacant by Becker. I want also to pay the penalty, and I want to waive immunity. We must all face the judgment of God. There and there only I can be judged upon the testimony I gave at the trial."

"Bridgie" Webber, who is living in Passaic, N. J., refused to discuss the Becker decision. "I have nothing to say. I don't want to be bothered about it any more," he said.

It is expected that the court on its next decision day, March 3, will announce the date on which they will be electrocuted.

DECISION MAY AFFECT COAL TAX

Say Pennsylvania Levy in Glass With Oyster Law.

Baltimore, Feb. 26.—Coal merchants of Baltimore are of the opinion that a decision handed down by the supreme court of the United States, declaring invalid the law collecting a tax of one cent per bushel upon oysters in shell, as provided by acts of the laws of Maryland, will have the effect of finally wiping from the statute books of the state of Pennsylvania a mine tax on coal that has been saddled on the consumers of the country.

It is generally understood that the Pennsylvania coal tax is for revenue only. The actual tax, as placed by the Pennsylvania statute is 2½ per cent of the actual value of the coal at the mines, and this is figured to the dealers in Baltimore as from seven to ten cents per ton.

The oyster decision, as submitted for the consideration of Baltimore attorneys, with the purpose of a probable legal test of the Pennsylvania coal tax law, seems to be direct.

WOULD FREE PORTO RICANS

Bill Provides New Government—U. S. Citizenship For Islanders.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A new system of civil government for Porto Rico was proposed by Senator Shafroth in a bill which, he said, represented the administration view.

It extends to Porto Ricans provisions of the bill of rights and provides that a Porto Rican may become an American citizen by merely declaring his allegiance.

The present council appointed by the president is to be displaced by a senate and house elected by the people for terms of four years.

Absolute veto power is vested in the governor, who will be the only check by the United States on Porto Rican legislation.

A cabinet, a system of island courts and a United States court are proposed.

Kills Himself in Railroad Station.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 26.—Hayward A. Harvey, forty-five years old, formerly a state assemblyman, committed suicide in the Lackawanna railroad station at Orange by shooting himself through the heart. His act was attributed to temporary insanity, resulting from illness. Mr. Harvey introduced to many nations the Harvey process for hardening steel.

The vote was 21 for Lewis and 17 for State Treasurer Robert K. Young. The rest of the votes were distributed among H. D. W. English, of Pittsburgh, who got 3; Joseph Cauffman, mayor of Johnstown, 2; William Wilhelm, 2, and others scattering. All the men voted for went into the room after the vote was announced and pledged support.

Selection of the rest of the ticket caused trouble and a recess had to be taken while a committee worked out the rest of the slate.

William Flinn, now in Florida, was represented by Auditor General A. W. Powell and A. P. Moore, English, who was backed by Flinn at the last conference, did not appear, but sent a telegram to State Chairman A. Nevin Detrich, to the effect that the train service and engagements prevented him from attending.

According to gossip, the rest of the slate as suggested will be Percy Smith, Pittsburgh, for lieutenant governor; Congressman Fred E. Lewis, Allentown, for secretary of internal affairs, and Representative C. P. Swift, Beaver, Lex. N. Mitchell, Jefferson, and Anderson H. Walters, Cambria, and A. R. Ruple, Carlisle, congressmen-at-large.

James A. Scarlet, of Danville, the attorney for the state in the capital cases, declared that he was not a candidate for the supreme court and added that he was favorable to George Kunkel, president judge of Dauphin county, for the nomination. He said the Dauphin county judge was the best fitted by temperament and learning and experience.

600 WILL LOSE HOMES

Removals Ordered to Make Way For Extension of Steelton Plant.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 26.—Five to six hundred Steelton people will be forced out of their home within thirty days by an order issued by the Pennsylvania Steel company.

The company will remove all of the houses in the lower end of what is known as Ewington to make room for the enlargements to the plant.

The officials of the company would say nothing about the order, but it bears out rumors that the company intends to erect a $2,000,000 mill.

The steel company has been making additions to its plant for some time, and the yards now stretch along the Susquehanna river for a distance of three miles.

DIES OF ROOSTER SCRATCH

Noted Delaware Horseman Succumbs to Blood Poisoning.

Federalburg, Md., Feb. 26.—Thomas Curry died at his home at Greenwood, Del., from blood poisoning. He was widely known as an expert horseman and was owner of the Greenwood race track.

At different times he owned some of the fastest trotting horses in Delaware. He was a close friend of former Governor Simeon S. Pennewill, of Delaware, and had been urged by his friends on several occasions to enter politics, but always declined.

His death was the result of a scratch on his hand about a week ago while endeavoring to catch some chickens. Blood poisoning set in, causing his death. He was sixty-two years old.

CHICAGO'S MAYOR ILL

Nature of Malady Not Disclosed, But Said to Be Serious.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—There is considerable apprehension as to the health of Mayor Carter Harrison, whose attendance at city hall for several months has been intermittent at the best, and in whose behalf the assertion was made that his long-talked-of visit to Florida had been abandoned on the advice of his physicians.

There is a persistent rumor that his ailment is not confined to mere colds, as has been said, but is of a more serious nature.

Crank Calls on Wilson.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A man who gave his name as George Mitchell, of 106 Woodbury street, Rochester, N. Y., was arrested at the White House, where he called to collect $2,000,000. He said the government owed him this sum and President Wilson would pay it. He was sent to an asylum.

MOB BURNS COLORED MAN

Unprecedented Brutality Shown by Mississippi Lynchers.

Leland, Miss., Feb. 26.—Mob cruelty seldom equaled attended the killing of Sam Petty, colored, accused of shooting Deputy Sheriff Charles R. Kirkland.

A mob of 300 men and boys captured Petty, and then chained him inside a dry goods box. Around the terrified man oil-soaked cotton was then stuffed. While the captive prayed and begged for his life a match was applied.

In his frantic struggles Petty broke the fastenings which bound him and fled with his clothing ablaze. Half a dozen members of the mob fired and Petty fell dead. The body was then replaced in the flames and burned to ashes.

Petty was accused of shooting Kirkland when the latter tried to arrest him for a trivial crime.

MATHEWSON HAS OFFER FROM FEDS

Giants' Star Pitcher Has Not Signed Contract.

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—Before signing a contract with the Giants or accepting the proposition of President Gilmore to name his own terms for managing the Brooklyn Federal club, Christy Mathewson said that he would talk the matter over with John McGraw, the manager of the Giants, or some representative of his.

Mathewson was planning to leave for the Giants' spring training camp at Marlin Springs, Texas, where he expected to meet McGraw or his representative.

"Some people have the report that I already have signed my contract with New York," said Mathewson. "I have not, and I am considering the offer of the Federal league."

Mathewson said that beyond mailing him a contract the Giants so far had not communicated with him, nor had any of the league officials. He is therefore at liberty to bargain with the Federal league or to play Gilmore's proposition for better terms from the New York club, he said.

McGraw Ill in London.

London, Feb. 26.—John J. McGraw, manager of the world touring Giants, is seriously ill and is confined to his room at the Savoy hotel here. He is threatened with pneumonia. "Jimmy" Callahan, of the White Sox, made the announcement at the hotel when McGraw failed to appear at a luncheon given in his honor of the American ball players.

PALMER TO LEAD TOLLS FIGHT

Confers With Wilson Over Fight to Repeal Exemption Clause.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Representatives Sherley and Palmer conferred with President Wilson over organizing the administration fight in the house to repeal the Panama tolls exemption law.

"I feel confident that the house will sustain the president," said Representative Sherley afterward.

Representative Palmer said it had not yet been determined whether initial action would be taken by the house or the senate, but that he was sure the repeal would be put through with little difficulty. Both Palmer and Sherley originally voted against the exemption.

Other administration leaders, however, such as Representatives Underwood and Kitchin, who voted for it, do not feel that they can make the argument for reversal, though they themselves will not take part in any opposition to the president.

There is confidence at the White House that both houses of congress soon will repeal the protested clause without difficulty.

Masked Man Robs Train.

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—A masked robber boarded a Southern Pacific train at Burlingame, robbed the conductor, brakeman and messenger and wounded the messenger, then making his escape.

Fall Kills Todmorton, Pa., Man.

Media, Pa., Feb. 26.—Robert Anderson, of Todmorton, died from injuries he received in a fall from the top of a water tank on the property of Charles Schoen, at Rose Valley.

Voice Worth Cultivating.

Think at least twice before using your voice once if it is well trained, and try never to utter a word that is not clear, distinct and well modulated. Hurred, careless habits of life and a tendency to irritability are responsible for the harsh tones of many voices which nature fitted for something better than to grow on our ears as they do.

Took Pastor's Words Personally. The church choir had resigned, and the preacher asked what was the cause of the trouble. "Well," replied one of the officers, "you have yourself to blame. You know you said, Providence having seen fit to afflict all our choir with bad colds, let us join in singing 'Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow.'"

BROOD SOW CARE AT FARROWING TIME

Corn, the great fattening feed, which has made possible the great development of the pork industry, is so handy that we feed entirely too much of it to the breeding animal. Corn is too deficient in protein to make a good feed for the brood sow. The sow developing a litter must have an abundant supply of protein in the feed, says the Kansas Farmer.

The brood sow should never be kept in the same pens with fattening hogs. It is not necessary nor desirable that the sow should be kept in a poor or emaciated condition. The supplying of feeds containing larger amounts of protein, such as oats, bran, oilmeal and last, but not least, all the alfalfa hay she will consume, will keep the sow in a strong, thrifty condition. Where an abundance of alfalfa hay is kept constantly before breeding sows there is probably little necessity for the use of the grains or concentrates suggested. Our most successful hog men have long made a practice of keeping alfalfa hay constantly before the brood sows. This practice invariably results in strong, lusty pigs.

As farrowing time approaches the sow should be placed in the pen by herself three or four days before the pigs are due to arrive. The bed or nest should consist of a small amount of straw or chaff, and if the litter is coming early in the season the house should be good and warm. No changes should be made in the feed immediately preceding farrowing. The mistake most commonly made is to feed the sow too heavily immediately after the pigs are farrowed. The danger to avoid is too heavy feeding at this time. The first twenty-four hours the sow should receive no grain whatever, but should be supplied with all the warm water she can drink. The feeding for the first three or four days should be very light, gradually working up to heavier feeds as the pigs get older and make heavier demands on the sow for milk.

As producers of bacon of first quality the Yorkshire hog is hard to beat. The packers prefer it to any other breed for bacon purposes, and the demand always exceeds the supply. Yorkshires are white in color, naturally gentle and of quiet disposition, though excellent foragers. Their ears stand erect. Their bodies are long and deep, indicating maximum bacon possibilities as well as capacity for carrying, easily farrowing and properly nourishing the large litters of pigs for which they are noted. The illustration shows a Yorkshire sow of excellent form.

It is a detriment to feed the sow too heavily at first. Heavy feeding tends to stimulate too large a secretion of milk, which invariably produces indigestion and kindred troubles in the pigs and at times may even produce a feverish condition in the sow. After the first week or ten days the brood sow with a good sized litter will require about all the feed she will consume.

KEEP THE SKIMMILK.

No Economy in Shipping Light Instead of Heavy Cream.

The man who ships cream often asks whether he shall make it thick or thin, says the Farm Journal. All the logic is in favor of a cream that is at least 40 per cent fat. The milk mixed with butter fat is what makes it sour and spoil. Other things being right, a heavy cream will keep better and longer than a thin one. Cream of 40 per cent or higher not only stands transportation better, but is cheaper to ship. A gallon of 20 per cent cream contains one and two-thirds pounds of fat; the same quantity of 40 per cent holds three and one-third pounds, and the expense of shipping the light cream is just as great as for the heavy.

Twenty per cent cream contains 80 per cent of skimmilk, which the dairy man not only throws away, but pays expressage on besides. In other words, a pound of skimmilk shipped costs as much as a pound of fat and brings nothing, besides being given away, where if it were fed to calves a certain profit would result. The rule should be to keep at home every pint of skimmilk possible. The creamery doesn't pay for it, but the pigs do.

Frequency of Farrowing.

Experience shows that a sow that grows eight pigs to maturity twice a year is more profitable than one that produces more pigs and fails to develop them. Usually the sow has sufficient milk for eight, and when they are allowed to suckle six to eight weeks the pigs are in prime condition to wean without having any setback. The sow can generally be bred successfully on the third day after weaning, and it is no trouble to have her produce two good litters a year if you give her proper attention.

Profitable Cows.

The half ton of butter per year cow is now represented in nearly all the breeds, but such performances are by no means common yet. The 500 pound of butter cow is still a good proposition.

Marked Improvement.

Rev. Caller—"Well, Mrs. Mangles, and is the good man any better?" Mrs. Mangles—"Oh, yes, sir. 'E's nearly all right agen, sir. 'E don't say 'is prayers no more of a night now, sir."

FAVORITE EGG RECIPES.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Macaroni and Cheese.
Stewed Tomatoes.
French Eggs.
Pumpkin Pie.
Chocolate.

SOME popular ways of serving eggs for luncheon are given here. They are of especial interest when Lenten rules must be considered.

Served on Toast.

Scrambled Eggs.—Beat up three or four eggs, add a tablespoonful of rich cream, a little salt and pepper to taste, then pour this into a small saucepan, add about half an ounce of fresh butter and stir over the fire until the eggs begin to set. Have ready one or more slices of toasted bread, butter them, place them in a hot dish and put the egg mixture lightly on the top.

Covered With Sauce.

French Eggs.—Take four eggs, one-half pint of milk, one ounce of butter, two chopped onions, a dessertspoonful of flour, pepper and salt and buttered toast. Hard boil the eggs. Fry the onions in butter, adding the flour. Mix well and pour in half a pint of milk, stirring until a nice white sauce is obtained. Season with salt and pepper. When the sauce is smooth add the eggs, each cut into six pieces cross ways. Shake them in the sauce and when hot, serve on buttered toast.

Savory Eggs.—Take three or four eggs, two tablespoonfuls minced ham or tongue, one tablespoonful chopped parsley, one-half ounce butter and buttered toast. Butter some molds, mix the minced ham and parsley together and dust this freely on the sides of the molds. Break an egg carefully into the center of each, sprinkle with pepper and salt, and steam in a frying pan of water for five minutes. Turn out on to small rounds of buttered toast and serve at once.

A Plain Lenten Dish.

Omelet.—Take three eggs, one ounce butter, one tablespoonful of milk or cream, pepper and salt. Break the eggs into a basin, beat them well with a fork, then add the milk and season with a tiny pinch of pepper and salt. Dissolve the butter in an omelet or frying pan. When quite hot, but not burning, pour in the mixture, stir slowly with a fork over a quick fire, shake the pan. When set roll the omelet into shape of a cushion on one side of the pan, allow it to take color, then turn it quickly on to a hot dish and serve. For those who like onion flavor two small peeled and chopped shallots may be added, but they should be fried a little with the butter before the mixture is put in the pan.

Sage Tea Turns

Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's Recipe to

Bring Back Color and

Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

The first popularity of "Suwanee River" dates back to the time when Christine Nilsson, the fair-haired daughter of a Swedish farmer, surprised all who heard her with the sweetness and compass of her voice as she sang Foster's plaintive melody. She will be known and long remembered for her singing of "Suwanee River" in the height of her success and operative triumphs. She was the acknowledged incomparable artist of her time. This beautiful song, and many others sung by Nilsson, are to be found in "Heart Songs."

Broken by The Tango

By MARJORIE CLOUGH

From the time when I came to be old enough to think of marriage I looked upon it in a feminine way. I didn't say when I was grown I'd be a teacher or a lawyer or anything like that. I said I was going to be married and live in a nice, cozy house and thought of my dolls as real children.

When I was eighteen years old my father died and left me little or nothing. It looked very much like my being forced from the domestic life I had laid out for myself when a child. Will and I were spoons, but Will was such an easy going fellow that he didn't fill my ideas of a husband at all. What I wanted was a strong character, who would make up my mind for me, relieving me of forming decisions, which I always disliked. Will was an amiable chap, and I was very fond of him, but it seemed to me that we were too much alike.

I was hesitating between Will and stenography—Will was perfectly able to take care of me—when Warren Robbins came along. It seemed to me that Mr. Robbins was just the man I wanted. It was not long before he proposed to me, and I accepted him at once.

I confess it seemed very nice to have some one to obey. There are two divisions of mankind and womanhood in these days. I may call them pleasureites and non-pleasureites. Formerly the pleasureites played cards and the non-pleasureites didn't. Now the pleasureites dance the modern dances and the non-pleasureites are shocked thereat. I found very soon that I was a pleasureite and Warren was a non-pleasureite. I became infatuated with the tango. Warren declared that any woman who danced the tango was not the wife he should like to marry.

We hadn't been long engaged before Warren made this known to me, and I felt called upon to defer to his wishes. Somehow this particular deference was not pleasant. I didn't see why I shouldn't dance the tango so long as I danced it properly. Warren argued that I could not always rely on finding a partner who would dance it properly with me and that the tendency of such dances being bad, by dancing it I was encouraging vice. I told him that I didn't agree with him and should dance the tango.

Warren was somewhat surprised at this and reminded me that I wished to follow a leader. To this I replied that in the tango the man guided the woman's steps.

You should have seen the look he gave me. "That's the most brilliant bit of logic I ever heard," he said. "It's worthy of Archbishop Whately, who wrote a book on categorical syllogisms and other points pertaining to the subject."

Heathens.
This word originally meant those who lived on the heaths, or in the country. It acquired its present meaning because of the fact that at the time of the introduction of Christianity in Germany the dwellers on the heaths were those who were most strenuously opposed to the new religion.

ject. If he heard it he would turn over in his grave."
"I don't see anything the matter with it or the tango either," I replied with some coquetry.

"It's about like the clinging vine and the sturdy oak. A dapple set up near the oak, the vine undlings from the oak and clings to the dapple."
"The vine wouldn't do that unless the ants had got in under the oak's bark and rotted the trunk."

"Perceiving that your logic and your wiles are altogether beyond my poor intelligence, I bid you good evening."

I didn't feel very good over this. Somehow I felt that, irrespective of the morality or immorality of the tango, in dancing it despite my fiancé's wishes I was not following out that for which I had agreed to marry him. While I was thinking about it I was called to the phone. Will Isham was at the other end. Will and I were good friends. We had simply not mated, that was all.

"Do you go to the — ball tonight?" he asked.
"No, Warren doesn't approve of these modern dances, and just now the old ones are not danced. He won't take me."

"Do you suppose he would let you go with me?"
"Let me?"
"Yes, Haven't you said you were going to marry for the purpose of having a master?"
"I'll go with you."

"Thanks awfully! I'll call for you at 9."
When 9 o'clock came I was dressed in a new ball costume just come in and waiting in the drawing room when who should call but Warren. He had come to make up, but when he saw my clinging skirt and my décolleté waist, with only a little lace over one shoulder, he forgot all about what he had come for and began to abuse my costume.

"Looks like an elegantly folded sheet," he said sarcastically, "only the sheet must have been taken from a crib."

I fired up at this and gave him such a tongue lashing that while about it I didn't notice the entrance of Will Isham. When I did notice him he was grinning like the cat that ate the canary.

Warren left me, slamming the door behind him. I went right out with Will, got into the carriage, and we were driven to the ball.

What a softening influence there is in the tango! It made me forget the disagreeable episode.

I have engaged myself to Will. He says he always wished to cling to a woman, and I'm just the woman he prefers to cling to.

UNUSUALLY DAINTY IS THE UNDERBODICE OF LACE WITH THE ONE-PIECE FROCK

There are any number of dainty, attractive touches which will render the one-piece frock or dark suit attractive this season. The practice of wearing an underbodice of net, lace or chiffon under a blouse of dark silk, cloth or velvet is one of the most pleasing. It is economical and time saving as well for these may be removed and replaced by fresh guimpes in contrast to the old fashioned yokes which were soiled quickly and could not be removed without considerable work.

In number 8196-8197 a charming little frock is developed in a flowered silk crepe with an underbodice of dotted net in cream color; a pointed, shaped girdle of black velvet brings out an effective bit of contrast.

These silk crepes average 42 inches in width and range in price from $1.50. To copy this costume in size 36 it requires for the blouse (8196) 1 1/2 yards of 36 inch material; for the skirt 3 1/2 yards of 42 inch material.
A simple, pretty little frock is shown in 7750, the striped linen of which it is fashioned is smartly relieved by shaped collar, cuffs and belt of white.
For a child of ten this pattern requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.
Number 8194—sizes 34 to 42.
Number 8197—sizes 22 to 30.
Number 7750—sizes 4 to 12.
Each pattern 15 cents.

PLAN TO EXHUME BODY OF BENTON

Demand For Its Surrender to Follow Examination.

TROOPS MAY CROSS BORDER

Such Action Will Not Be Taken Unless Great Britain Insists on Recovery of Body.

Washington, Feb. 26. — General Francisco Villa's proposal for an American examination of the body of William S. Benton, the English ranchman he executed at Juarez, without permitting its removal from Mexico, has been accepted by this government without waiving its demand for the delivery of Benton's body upon American soil.

The British consul, Perceval, at Galveston, was ordered to proceed to El Paso at once to go to the grave in Juarez with a delegation of Americans.

Major General Scott, commanding the United States troops at El Paso, will detail an American army surgeon and any other officers to accompany the British consul. A member of Benton's family will be taken with the party.

That course has been decided upon pending the outcome of efforts to obtain the surrender of the body to Benton's family, which will not be abated in the least. An immediate examination, even under limited conditions, has been decided upon so that decomposition, which is rapid in the Mexican climate, may not obliterate the mute evidence of the wounds.

The possibility of sending American troops across the Mexican border to recover the body of Benton, should Villa continue in his refusal to surrender it, was discussed by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

It was agreed not to take any such drastic action until Great Britain informs the government of her stand in the affair. The British embassy was informed that Villa had refused to give up Benton's body, and this information was cabled to London by Ambassador Spring-Rice.

It is expected that the British foreign office will immediately cable its views to be transmitted to the state department. Should Great Britain continue in her demand that Benton's body be brought to El Paso, the United States might feel called upon to send troops into Juarez to recover it.

Some officials said there was no legal obstacle to the sending of a force of American cavalrymen from the border patrol to recover Benton's body, if it could be located.

That such would be an act of war, which must first be authorized by congress, was denied by such officials. They pointed to President Wilson's declaration that there was no government in Mexico. Such a condition, they said, would justify such action, somewhat similar to that taken in China in the Boxer uprising, when a large international force entered the country without any declaration of war.

Proposals to send to Mexico City a marine force of sufficient strength to enable the American embassy to dominate the situation in a military way, so far as the legion guards of other nationalities are concerned, are receiving consideration by the administration.

Naval officers are in favor of sending a force of 1000 marines to Mexico City. In army circles there is a disposition to believe that either a force of 5000 men should be sent or none at all.

At the state department those officials who would like to see a strong embassy guard in Mexico City shrink at the suggestion of such a large number as 1000, although these officials are anxious that the United States representation should be more than all the others combined.

The state department has information that the German commander in Mexican waters is preparing to send guns and a marine guard to Mexico City.

The Japanese already have a small marine guard at their legation and the British have sent machine guns to their legation, while it is reported that the French government is to send a small guard.

M. S. WEST SUCCEEDS BACON

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26. — M. S. West, of Valdosta, was appointed by Governor Clayton to succeed the late A. O. Bacon as United States senator from Georgia.

Mr. West will serve until November, when a state election will be held. Indications are that there will be numerous candidates for the vacancy. Senator Bacon's term would not expire until 1919.

Found Unconscious in Sleigh.

Somerfield, N. J., Feb. 26. — Emil Metcher, a farmer, of South Somerfield, was found unconscious seated upright in his sleigh with his horse halted at the entrance to a graveyard. He was taken to the county jail at Somerville, where he died in a short time. Metcher was apparently in poor health when he left home, but it is believed that he was stricken with apoplexy as he neared the graveyard.

FIRE ON STATE POLICE FROM BEHIND DOORS

Three Troopers Narrowly Miss Death Near Pottsville.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 26. — Two more murder cases are likely to be added to Schuylkill county's long list by recent developments, as the result of which eleven men are now under arrest, while a squad of three state policemen made a narrow escape with their lives, being under fire from the dwelling of Charles Rizzada, at Forestville, bullets fired from behind the closed doors whizzing close to their heads.

The policemen went to Branchdale to arrest John Tote, Mike Andruso and Emanuel Umbol, accused of fatally stabbing John Walbot during a quarrel.

After the three men were committed to jail the policemen were fired at through closed doors as they passed the home of Charles Rizzada, at Forestville. The snow and ice torn by the bullets struck the officers in the face and warned them of their serious danger.

Just as they were about to break down the door Rizzada and his two sons, Max and Otto, came out and surrendered themselves. Two other rioters were also arrested, making a total of eight.

Later Charles Bubals, Isaac Dracus and Martin Lanabus, of New Philadelphia were arrested, charged with fatally stabbing Charles Ellison in the abdomen. Both Ellison and Walbot are in a critical condition. Both men were stabbed in saloons.

TRY TO ROB SLEIGH PARTY

Held Up by Highwaymen, One of Whom Is Arrested.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 26. — Three highwaymen held up a sleigh party on the main road to Pittston, but before they collected any valuables from the fifty or sixty persons in the party the police appeared and one of the men was arrested. He is Miles Hart, of Seabrook.

Albert Labar was urging his team when a highwayman leaped from the roadside. The footpad began to fire from a revolver and five bullets buzzed through the air.

Two other men appeared at the sides of the sled, but before they got any valuables the Pittston police were attracted by the shots and arrived on the scene.

Two of the men made their escape. Hart was taken to the Pittston lockup. He refused to give the names of his companions.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 26. — Attorney General John W. Westcott has given an opinion rendered by Controller Edwards in response to an inquiry of the latter official relative to the validity of railroad passes issued to state officials in compliance with the law of New Jersey.

The attorney general holds that the passes are good and valid until the act under which they are issued is negated by a decision of the court.

Burn Victim to Hide Crime.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 26. — The charred body of Preston Lyerly, a merchant of Barber, 15 miles west of Raleigh, was found in his burning store. The store was open and evidences of murder and arson to cover the robbery were found. Neighbors who discovered the body found the clothes had been removed with oil.

Heed The Warning

Many Gettysburg People Have Done So

When the kidneys are weak they give unmistakable warnings that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Weak kidneys usually expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of "brickdust" sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys often cause a dull pain in the small of the back, headaches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and frequent rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. There is no better recommended remedy.

Gettysburg people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Samuel Beck, farmer, Ottumwa, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for a long time and they have proven a wonderful cure for kidney trouble. I had pains in my sides and my head ached. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended, I got a box and it didn't take them long to cure me. I am in a position to recommend this remedy strongly."

HOW TO BOIL RICE.
PROCEED in the same manner as for macaroni—that is, cook in plenty of fast boiling water to which is added salt. Lemon juice is often added to insure a good color. The rice is boiled sufficiently when a grain can be pressed between the finger and thumb and feels quite soft. Rice may be served in the same ways as macaroni.

The simplicity of boiled rice makes it especially suitable for children and invalids, but it is rarely cooked with sufficient care.

Excellent Meat Substitutes.
Italian Boiled Rice.—Take a cupful of rice and wash it. To about a quart of boiling water add a slice of bacon, a tablespoonful of grated Parmesan cheese and a pinch of saffron to deepen the color. Boil well for five minutes, then add rice gradually and cook according to directions for boiled rice. When done remove the bacon, dot with bits of butter and set in the oven to dry. Serve hot.

Boiled Rice With Cheese.—Take a half cupful of rice, boil and drain as usual; then stir a tablespoonful of grated cheese, tossing it with a fork. Heap in a dish, sprinkle another tablespoonful of cheese over it after putting bits of butter on the rice. Set in the oven for a few minutes until the butter is melted and the cheese slightly browned; then serve hot in the dish.

Simple and Nutritious.
Rice and Cream.—Simmer three tablespoonfuls of rice with six lumps of sugar in a pint and a half of milk till the rice is quite soft and has absorbed all the milk. Add a little milk or water if the rice becomes too dry. Turn into a wet mold to set. When cold serve with whipped cream and jam.

Pink Cream.—Boil four ounces of ground rice in a quart of milk, adding two ounces of butter, two ounces of sugar and any flavoring liked. Stir the rice is added to the milk and or twenty minutes after it boils till it is a smooth custard. Color the rice a pretty pink with cochineal. Spread the bottom of the glass dish with strawberry preserve and when cool pour the rice over the jam till the dish is full. Set aside till cold and then scatter desiccated coconut over the surface.
